CHAPTER ONE

THE ANT AND THE BUZZY BEE

Once upon a time, there was an ant who lived in a small hole with her little children.

she will bake sweet cakes and boil
creamy milk for them to drink.

she feeds them so well.

One day a buzzy bee flew into the hole, he grabbed some fluffy cakes, spilt a cup of milk and buzzed as he left.

He flew so fast and when he finally landed on a tree branch, he sat down there and started to eat the fluffy cake.

The Buzzy bee was over joyed because his mission was a success, he smiled.

Sadly, down the hole, the mother ant and her little ones cried and cried all day.

And so, it all happened one faithful day the buzzy bee was sleeping on a tree branch, suddenly he fell from the tree and was caught in a spider's web!

Help help he yelled.

The mother ant was passing by and when she heard the cry then she looked up and saw the bee.

Quickly she picked a dry stick and cleared off the web. The bee fell on ground with a big noise!

Everywhere was shaken due to that noise.

After a while the buzzy bee gently raised his head and said to himself; that was a shame, but am happy I was not battered he grinned.

The bee got up and surprisingly his gaze met with the mother ant.

He remembered stealing some cake from the poor ant.

He was so sorry for what he did and pleaded that mother ant should forgive him.

The ant nodded and said it is not wise to payback evil with an evil coin.

Buzzy bee you may go now.

The bee was delighted, he snapped his tiny wings and buzzed away.

The ant gladly went back into her hole.

Now the sun came up. It was sunny so little brown bear and i went to the pool.

oh, dear what did we see? pretty white duckling swimming in the pool.

Up we jumped right into the pool and splashy washy all the way.

CHAPTER THREE THE FUNNY MOUSE

A lion was once asleep in the jungle when a mouse started running up and down his body just for fun.

The lion woke up very angry.

He was so angry that he wanted to eat the mouse.

When the lion grabbed him, the mouse begged to let him go.

The lion was friendly that day so he let him go.

One day, some hunters came into the forest and took the lion

They tied him up on a tree.

The lion began to whimper

Soon the mouse walked past and saw the lion crying for help.

He ran to the lion, untied him and
